Law Enforcement Preparedness Training Initiative

There is NO COST to the participant to register or attend.

CLEET is pleased to announce we will be hosting the Law Enforcement Preparedness Training Initiative (LEPTI) in partnership with the National Domestic Preparedness Consortium (NDPC). The training initiative will be held September 13-15 at the Moore - Norman Technology Center in Norman, OK.

This event will provide an opportunity for Oklahoma's law enforcement to take courses in the Law Enforcement Terrorism Certification Program (LETCP) as adopted by CLEET. The courses provided in the LETCP are recognized by CLEET as continuing education and can be used as part of the mandated yearly training requirement to maintain peace officer certification.

In addition to earning your yearly continuing education hours, you can work towards a basic, intermediate or advanced certification in the LETCP.

For more information about the Law Enforcement Preparedness Training Initiative visit : <http://www.ndpc.us/lepti>

The Oklahoma Office of Homeland Security will not provide hotel accommodations but will reimburse students who wish to make arrangements starting the day of the course. You are only eligible for reimbursement if your residence and official work station are more than 60 miles from the training course and you are a State or Local agency responder from Oklahoma.

Training Program Offers Specialized Career Path for Law Enforcement

by: Julie Cavin, NCBRT

The Oklahoma Office of Homeland Security, Oklahoma Council on Law Enforcement Education and Training (CLEET) and the National Center for Biomedical Research and Training (NCBRT), Academy of Counter-Terrorism, a member of the National Domestic Preparedness Consortium (NDPC), recently developed the Law Enforcement Terrorism Certification Program (LETCP) to address the need to have a career path that state and local jurisdictions could utilize to identify appropriate training for their law enforcement professionals with respect to high-consequence events, either natural or man-made. "With consistent focus on enhancing our state and jurisdictional homeland security, this program provides an avenue to do so in a directed approach for the officer and agency," says Steve Williams, NCBRT Operations and Plans Associate Director. The LETCP will augment the current credentialing system already implemented in the state of Oklahoma.

In addition to obtaining the Law Enforcement Terrorism Certification, the training hours can be transferred to CLEET's Advanced Law Enforcement Certification program and eventually college credits towards a degree. "This training will provide additional tools for law enforcement officers in their mission of providing a safer and more secure environment for the citizens of Oklahoma," says Steve Emmons, CLEET Interim Director. "It is only through these training partnerships that officers advance their knowledge and expertise to fight the threat of high-consequence events."

About the Law Enforcement Terrorism Certification Program (LETCP)

The LETCP offers three levels of certification: basic, intermediate and advanced. Each level of certification includes training required for all participants and offers various tracks within the program to address specific needs of the patrol officer and special response units.

The curriculum includes both web-based and instructor led training, which includes mobile and residential training. Each of the courses offered in the training program have been either DHS-certified or are federal or state courses approved through DHS. Each course is also offered at no cost to the participant. The entire certification program takes anywhere from one to six years to complete, depending upon the participant's current level of education. The state of Oklahoma is preparing a multi-year training schedule to meet the anticipated needs of the required training. Most of the training is mobile and will be brought to the state. The residential training programs, which are highly technical and require special facilities to conduct, will provide the training at their facilities. In these cases, the training provider will provide travel, lodging and per diem for those attending.

Law Enforcement Preparedness Training Initiative (LEPTI)

To kick off the training program, a Law Enforcement Preparedness Training Initiative (LEPTI) will be held at the Moore Norman Technology Center in Norman, Okla., Sept. 13-15. This event will provide an overview of the program and initial training from various training providers in one location. Participants will have the opportunity to earn up to 24 hours of training toward their certification during the three-day event. "I help train our division to respond to terrorism related incidents, so the Law Enforcement Preparedness Training Initiative is a great opportunity for me to widen my knowledge base and for me to learn the newest techniques for teaching those subjects," says Eric Hanson, a Lieutenant with the Cleveland County Sheriff. More information about LEPTI can be found at www.ndpc.us/lepti.

Linguistic Statement Analysis

CLEET's lead investigator Walt Birdsong has recently completed a course in Linguistic Statements Analysis. In an effort to provide assistance to Oklahoma law enforcement, he will make himself available on a limited case-by-case basis to agencies that would like assistance in determining truthfulness or deception in written statements. He must limit these to felony cases only, and he asks that anyone requesting assistance to contact him before sending him any documents.

LSAT detects deception by identifying linguistic signals that indicate whether a suspect or victim is deceptive, or truthful. The basic idea is that the structure and content of a person's statement will reveal when there is an attempt to deceive. For every group of deceptive statements an investigator needs a way of finding the truth; LSAT can help an investigator distinguish facts from fiction. An investigator using LSAT will perform a statement analysis, identify which parts of the statement are deceptive, or truthful and then complete a report, making suggestions for follow-up investigators and interviewers. LSAT has been an effective tool for all types of crimes.

Anyone requesting assistance or has questions should contact: Walt Birdsong at waltb@cleet.state.ok.us

DEPUTY OF THE YEAR Randy Holt — Pottawatomie County

Information and photo provided by the Oklahoma Sheriffs Association

Randy Holt joined the Pottawatomie County Sheriff's office in 2009. Advancing from reserve deputy to part-time and then to full-time deputy in about 12 months, Holt has set the mark for other deputies to follow. He has availed himself of any training available, as well as completing the Sheriff's office FTO training program in record time, Holt is now a CLEET cadet.

After being assigned to the North East District of the County, Deputy Holt went to work getting to know the area, every business owner and citizen in the district. His professionalism and caring attitude provided him the ability to put into practice a community policing program second to none. The citizens know that because of his high moral standards and trustworthiness, they can go to him and be treated fairly. They know that their complaints will be taken seriously.

When Deputy Holt began patrolling a high crime area of his district, he noticed that both adults and children would go back into their homes when they saw a patrol unit coming down the street. Deputy Holt developed a unique way to open up lines of communication between him and the citizens living there. With the help of his wife, Rhonda, put together treat packs with candy, gum and badge stickers. Then as he drove down the street he began handing them out to any child he could find. Little by little, and child by child, he slowly built up their confidence and now not only are the children glad to see him but the parents are as well. Establishing communication between himself and the citizens has enabled him to work closely with the community, making them feel like they are making their community a safer place.

His community involvement has enabled him to obtain information that led to the clearance of several criminal cases:

- He was the lead deputy in an investigation that resulted in the breaking of a large burglary ring that was operating in his district.
- He was responsible for locating and arresting a rape suspect who eluded law enforcement for the past 10 years.
- His attention to detail resulted in the location and arrest of two high profile violent offenders with outstanding warrants.

Deputy Holt's professionalism and his leadership qualities have clearly demonstrated his willingness to go above and beyond to serve and protect the citizens of Pottawatomie County. It is for these reasons that Deputy Holt was awarded the 2011 Deputy of the Year award from the Oklahoma Sheriffs Association.
