Crisis Negotiations for First Responders

Hosted by Guymon Police Department

Training Location: Guymon P.D.

906 NW 5th Guymon, OK

Tuesday, Sept. 27, 2016

8 a.m.—5 p.m.

First Responding Officers, Jail Personnel and Communications Personnel are usually the first to communicate with a person in a Crisis. Whether that crisis be a Criminal Barricade, Hostage Situation or Crisis Barricade, the first responders words and actions are crucial in setting the tone for how the incident will evolve and ultimately resolve. This CLEET accredited course is designed specifically to train those first responding officers and personnel. It is an excellent course for law enforcement officials with no training in Crisis Negotiations but it is also a great refresher for the trained/experienced negotiator. The course covers : Dynamics of a Critical Incidents, Dealing with a Person in Crisis, Threat Assessment, Intelligence Issues, Active Listening Skills, and much more.

Course offered by Crisis Communication Training & Services, LLC

CLEET#16-0932

About the Speaker: Paul Barbour, Jr.

Lieutenant Paul Barbour Jr., retired in 2014., after spending over 29 years with the Edmond Oklahoma Police Department. He began his law enforcement career as a dispatcher, and worked his way up the ranks. While serving with the EPD, Paul helped to establish the EPD Negotiator Team, and he has since accumulated over 16 years experience as a trained negotiator. Paul has been involved in multiple crisis situations, including barricades, hostage situations, suicidal subjects and face to face armed encounters.

Paul commanded the EPD Crisis Negotiation Unit and Crisis Intervention Team while at during his service. He has presented case studies and taught training sessions at conferences and seminars across the U.S. and Canada. He is a graduate of the FBI National Crisis Negotiation Course in Quantico, VA and has been an active instructor in Crisis Negotiations for many years. Paul has a passion for teaching officers and dispatchers the communications skills necessary to de-escalate very dangerous and volatile incidents. Paul continues to teach crisis negotiations throughout the U.S., both through “Public Service Group” (out of Florida) and he is the owner of Crisis Communications Training and Services. Paul and his wife of 18 years, Becky, make their home in Lahoma, OK . They have four children: Paul III, Rachael, Emilee and Jonathan and a foster son, Christian. They are expecting their first grandchild in June, 2016.

Paul is an excellent speaker who uses humor, humility and hands-on fun to keep the learning process enjoyable. You won't be disappointed!
