Land Management 101

NREM Short Course | June 8, 15, 22 & 29 | 6-8:30 p.m.

Intended for anyone interested in managing land sustainably for wildlife, livestock, or timber, this course would be particularly helpful for new or absentee landowners.

Location: Oklahoma County Extension Office
930 N. Portland Ave. | Oklahoma City
405.713.1125

- Topics -

- Prescribed Fire – Techniques for prescribed fire; Differences in season of burn; How frequency determines outcome; Impacts to habitat and plants; Laws and regulations concerning fire
- Grazing Management – How to set stocking rates; Understanding grazing systems; Native rangeland management; Animal movement; Use of cattle as a tool for other objectives; Fire and grazing interactions
- Timber Management – Basic forestry; Harvest strategies; Markets available in Oklahoma; Use of timber harvest as a wildlife tool; How to implement agroforestry
- Wildlife Management – Quail management; White-tailed deer management; Wild turkey management; How to deal with wildlife damage; Lease hunting
- Will conclude with a full day field tour showing a prescribed fire and discussing concepts covered in class.

- Details -

Registration Fee:
$250
Includes snacks & drinks during each class; lunch & drinks during full day fire field tour.

Payable to:
OSU-NREM
008C Ag Hall
Stillwater, OK 74078

Deadline:
May 1, 2010

Contact:
Dwayne Elmore
405.744.9636
dwayne.elmore@okstate.edu

Offered By:
Natural Resource Ecology & Management Extension, OSU

Oklahoma State University

nrem.okstate.edu