

Free Workshop “Building Advocacy Skills” Training

Who Should Attend

- Employees (and community partners) who may have contact with or provide services to victims of domestic and sexual violence.
- Possible attendees may include legal services, social workers, victim advocates, law enforcement, ICW workers, elder services, etc.

What You Will Learn

Presented by the Institute for Native Justice Director Pam Moore, in this two-day training you will learn the basics of domestic violence and sexual assault victim advocacy. INJ strives to promote safety and dignity for victims of domestic and sexual violence; we seek wisdom and respect culture as ways to form strategies and solutions for Indian people.

This course will cover: History and trauma - appropriate responses – victim rights – effective, evidence-based practice - identification of resources and referrals for victims - safety planning – confidentiality – ethics – jurisdictional issues – peer counseling – cultural competency.

Please Join Us! Sign Up Now

Call Dawn Rowe @ (580) 362-1098 to sign up. Please attend both days. (Lunch on your own)

Dates: Thursday January 6th, and Friday January 7th, 2015
Time: 9 a.m. – 4:30 p.m. each day
Place: Standing Bear Memorial, 601 Standing Bear Pkwy Hwy
Ponca City, Ok. 74601