RE: 2023 Rate Adjustments
SW092 Hazardous Waste Removal Services Contract

Dear Ms. Parks,

Environmental Works, Inc. (EWI) has prepared this letter to provide reasoning for proposed rate increases associated with the 2023 renewal of the above-referenced contract. A discussion of the proposed increases is provided below, per item or groups of items.

Category 1 – Routine Waste Pick-Ups and Disposal

- 1000010000 Haz Mat Control Equipment, A. Drums, containers and liners
  - In general, many of these items increased as costs paid by EWI for steel drums, poly drums, and other similar containers have increased significantly due to recent supply and demand restraints, raw materials costs, and worker shortages.
  - Drop-off and pick-up costs for roll off boxes were updated due to increase in EWI rates and fuel costs.
- 1000010001 Haz Mat Waste Management Processing & Method, 1000010005 Haz Mat Radioactive Waste, and 1000010012 Haz Mat Disposal of Pressurized Cylinders
  - Costs for these items increased around 15% to account for recent pricing increases incurred by EWI from disposal vendors.
- 1000006484 Haz Mat Analytical Testing
  - Costs for these items increased to account for recent pricing increases incurred by EWI from analytical laboratories.

Category 2 – Emergency and Rush Response Services

- 0962-40-01 Personnel
  - Personnel rates increased, in-line with EWI 2023 rate sheet.
- 0962-40-26 Control Equipment, A. Drums, containers and liners
  - In general, many of these items increased as costs paid by EWI for steel drums, poly drums, and other similar containers have increased significantly due to recent supply and demand restraints, raw materials costs, and worker shortages.
- 0962-40-30 Waste Management Processing and Method, 0962-40-60 Radioactive Waste, and 0962-40-80 Disposal of Pressurized Cylinders

- Costs for these items generally increased 15% to account for recent pricing increases incurred by EWI from disposal vendors.
- 0962-40-70 Analytical Testing
  - Costs for these items increased to account for recent pricing increases incurred by EWI from analytical laboratories.
