FROM THE DEPUTY DIRECTOR OF COMMUNITY CORRECTIONS

The Division of Community Corrections is responsible for managing offenders who are placed in community corrections facilities and offenders under probation and parole supervision. The Division is a multi-faceted, multi-functional, essential component of the Department of Corrections.

The division has a significant role in meeting the mission of the Department of Corrections. Reducing the rate of recidivism, parole revocation and the cost to incarcerate are core functions of this division. These functions are accomplished through various evidenced-based programs and services provided to the offenders as they enter and exit our correctional system.

Another important function within our division is to provide, when appropriate, alternatives to incarceration through our diversion program initiatives. As you review this report, you will note the successful application of alternative to incarceration programs using evidence-based practices and services.

The reentry process helps prepare offenders to make a safe transition from incarceration to the community and enhances public safety. When offenders return to their respective communities without reoffending, communities are safer, and the investment of correctional resources has yielded positive results. When formerly incarcerated or supervised persons become productive members of society, working to support their families and paying taxes, the community benefits, Community Corrections has served its purpose, and everyone wins. This annual report reflects positive results in this area.

None of this could be possible without the dedication and commitment of Community Corrections staff who continually meet the daily challenges of offering viable alternatives to incarceration for offenders at various stages of the criminal justice process. This report reflects our continued commitment to the vision of offender success and safe communities.

Several discharges and GPS offenders have remained in Enid to continue to work for Pelagic Tank, Inc. Other offenders that completed our Welding Career Technology Program and returned to their home towns have now returned to Enid to work for Pelagic Tank Inc.

Union City

- Developed a relationship with Permian Tank, Inc. a private company who now employ up to 20 work release offenders.
- Union City CCC had six offenders graduate the Transition Program on June 8, 2012.
- Union City CCC had 19 offenders graduate COPE (substance abuse treatment) program on June 12, 2012.

Beaver

- Beaver CWC offenders completed the following community service projects: Cleaned the American Legion building, renovated the Beaver Dunes Park, assisted with the annual Beaver Community Food Drive, and assisted with the relocation of the Jones & Plummer Trail Museum.
- Updated the facility by replacing all lighting fixtures, shower floors retiled and painted, Central Control retiled, remodeled kitchen, painted facility, installed new cooking range, water fountain, upright freezer, and refurbished all bunk beds.
- Beaver maintained a zero escape rate.

Elk City

- The Residential Substance Abuse Treatment (RSAT) program had 27 graduates during FY12.
- Twenty offenders completed the Career Technology Construction Trades Program.

Hollis

- Hollis CWC offenders remodeled the Hollis Public Schools.
- Offenders from Hollis CWC assisted with the annual city wide cleanup.
- Hollis CWC maintained a zero escape rate for FY12.

Mangum

- Mangum CWC offenders completed the following community service projects: replaced roof and built offices in the Mangum City Power Plant, removed debris from the fire damaged clubhouse at the city Golf Course, repainted the Mangum High School and Elementary School inside and out, replaced old flooring in the High School, and maintain the football field.

Sayre

- Sayre CWC offenders helped finish remodeling of the Sayre City Council meeting room and City Hall. Also, the offenders helped refurbish a building for the city to house the work of local artists.
- Sayre CWC maintained a zero escape rate for FY12.

Southeast District Community Corrections Centers

Ardmore

- Thirty-three offenders have completed the Re-entry Program.
- 18 offenders graduated from literacy.
- 15 offenders graduated ABE.
- 6 offenders graduated GED.
- 41 offenders graduated Victim Impact program.

- 7 offenders graduated Vo-Tech.
- 36 offenders completed Thinking for a Change.

Carter

- Case Manager Nora Davis graduated 35 offenders in Thinking for a Change and 52 offenders in Victim Impacts.

Earl Davis

- 32 offenders have completed the “Victim Impact” class.
- 23 offenders have completed “Thinking for a Change” class.

Idabel

- Special Projects: Forrest Grove School started in June 2011 and ended in August 2011. Offenders assisted the school in conducting renovation of the class room by doing general maintenance (moving furniture, painting, rebuilding the fences to the school, and providing ground maintenance). Special Projects: Broken Bow School started in June 2012 and ended in August 2012. Offenders assisted the school in conducting renovating the school sports complex by completing repairs to the roof, painting, and completing general maintenance of the buildings and grounds.
- 26 offenders completed Thinking for a Change.
- 46 offenders completed Victims Impact.
- Little Dixie Re-Entry program had 10 offenders who participated in a computer skills program, and other re-entry efforts, over the course of year.

Lawton Community Corrections Center

- Rhonda Williams was selected as the 2011 Volunteer of the Year for the Division of Community Corrections.

Community Work Centers

- In September 2011, offenders from the Hobart Community Work Center replaced some bridges on rural roads.
- In October 2011, offenders from the Hobart Community Work Center built new ball field dugouts and replaced the back stop at one of the local parks in Hobart.
- In January 2011, six Hobart Community Work Center offenders helped with the local Stock Show by assisting with preparation and also clean up.
- Chief of Security Paul Lawrence, Walters Community Work Center, was selected for the 2011 Professional Excellence Award for the Division of Community Corrections.
- In March 2012, new surveillance systems were installed at the Walters CWC and Altus CWC.

Oklahoma County Community Corrections/Residential Services

- Ms. Marcia Manning, Administrative Assistant with Redemption Church, delivered the first ten (10) boxes of indigent hygiene products for offenders at Clara Waters Community Corrections and Oklahoma City Community Corrections Center.
- On October 29, 2011, the Oklahoma County National Association of Black Social Workers held a banquet in which Clara Waters Community Corrections was presented an Outstanding Volunteer Award in appreciation of the assistance provided during the ice storm of 2011. Ms. Vivian Brown, Secretary III/CWCCC, attended the banquet as a representative of the facility on behalf of Mrs. Carmen Jackson, Assistant District Supervisor.
- On December 13, 2011, staff from the Daily Oklahoman was at the Clara Waters Community Corrections Center regarding the Oklahoma Message program sponsored by Redeeming the Family. The article was published in the Sunday, December 25, 2011 Sunday Oklahoman.

Tulsa District

- On March 8, 2012, the City of Tulsa started their four, five man PPWP crews.

Probation and Parole - Accomplishments FY 2012

Northeast District

- In April, 2012, NEDCC assumed supervision of Community Sentencing offenders in Rogers County.
- NEDCC Sub-office changes made during FY2012:
 - October 31, 2011, the Stilwell sub-office was closed due to being a one-person office and the resignation of the officer at this location. Tahlequah staff absorbed supervision of offenders in this county.
 - October 28, 2011, the Sallisaw sub-office was relocated with decreased space resulting in a cost savings.
 - April 2, 2012, a sub-office was opened in Delaware County (Jay, OK); space available for the placement of three (3) Probation and Parole Officers for this county.

Southeast District

- Probation and Parole Officer Shantal Keith-Jackson was selected as the Southeast District Community Correction's and the Division of Community Correction's "Probation and Parole Officer of the Year."
- PPO III LaGena Williston was instrumental in the formation of the Wind Horse Family Counseling Center, a new program providing outpatient mental health and substance abuse treatment to the Choctaw Nation and all Native Americans in McCurtain County. She represented probation and parole at each stakeholder's meeting to ensure our needs were met and evidence based practices would be utilized with our offenders.

Southwest District

- In November 2011, District Supervisor Thornburgh and Assistant District Supervisor Woody met in Cleveland County with fourteen Assistant District Attorneys from Cleveland, Garvin and McClain Counties about supervision strategies and overall probation and parole operation.

Central District

- On May 10th, 2012, The Female Offender Diversion Team was awarded a Commendation of Excellence at the State Capitol during the Quality Oklahoma Team Day event.
- In February 2012, two Central District Community Corrections officers received Armorer Certification from Glock Professional, Inc., in order to facilitate the maintenance and care of the district's arsenal of Glock semi-automatic pistols.
- In April 2012, Central District Community Corrections began assigning offenders to the Telephone Reporting System (TRS), replacing the administrative mail-in status for low-level, non-module placed offenders. Central District Community Corrections has a Case Manager assigned to supervise this caseload of offenders who report by telephone monthly.
- Probation and Parole Officer Shannon Hazen attended a mission trip to Wera, Uganda. The mission assisted children in this village who had been orphaned by civil war and the AIDS epidemic. Officer Hazen collected toys from Central District Staff and raised money to buy the village police officer a bicycle.
- Probation and Parole Officer Catherine Dixon-Shelton volunteered daily at the Operation Truth Boot Camp which operated for three weeks in June. The camp was sponsored by the Oklahoma Highway Patrol, Oklahoma City Police Department, Oklahoma County District Court Judge Kenneth Watson and several active duty military personnel in an effort to help educate and motivate community youth in a paramilitary fashion. This boot camp has operated successfully since 1993.

Community Residential Services

Community Corrections Centers and Community Work Centers provide an environment conducive for offenders beginning the process of reentry. Community offenders may be assigned to public work programs, facility work programs, or work release status. The Division of Community Corrections accounts for approximately 15% of the agency's total bed space, with a capacity of 3,824 male bed spaces at community correction centers, community work centers, halfway houses, and county jail contracts. The Division operates five community corrections centers and fifteen community work centers and contracts with five private vendors to provide 1,210 additional community beds at nine facilities.

FACILITY CAPACITIES

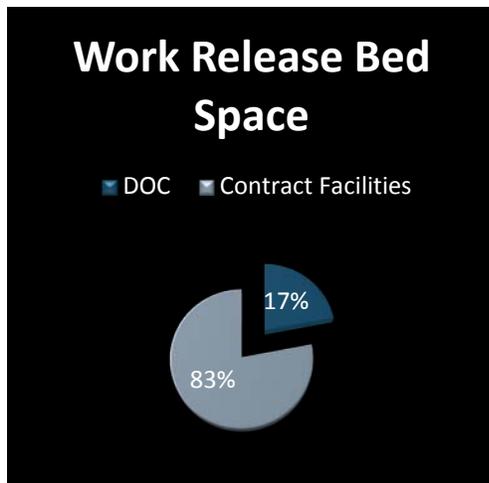

Each community facility has a dedicated pool of offenders to maintain the facility and support other facility operations. These offenders are assigned to crews such as landscaping, kitchen, maintenance, and orderly services. The remaining offenders work in the community. The majority of the offenders assigned to work centers and community corrections centers participate in the Prisoner Public Works Program. These offenders work for counties, cities, or governmental agencies performing work that would not otherwise be done due to the lack of local workforce and available funding. Offenders assigned to PPWP work crews are paid a maximum of $27.09 per month. Most offenders assigned to halfway houses participate in work release programs as a component of re-entry. These offenders work in salaried jobs in the community. Employment provides the offender the opportunity to prepare to meet financial obligations upon release as well as to reimburse the state for a portion of their cost of incarceration.

Community Residential Services - Continued

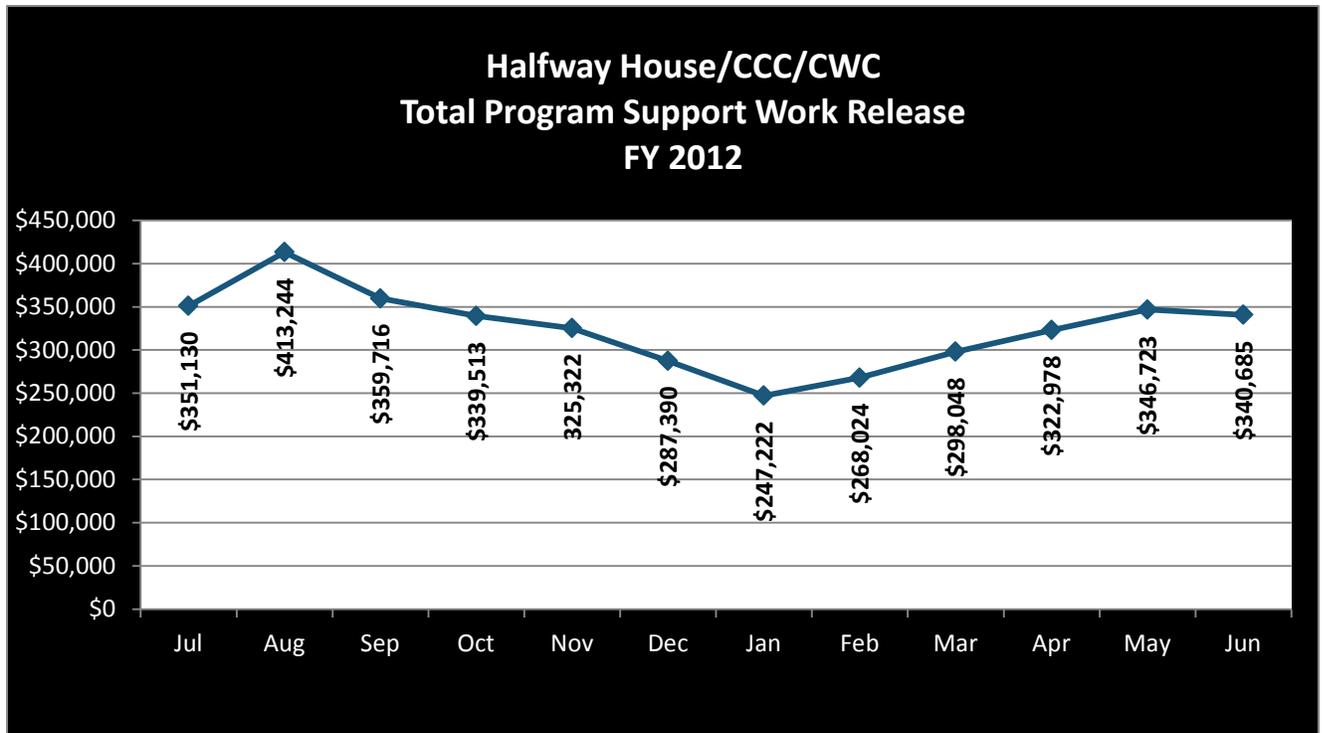

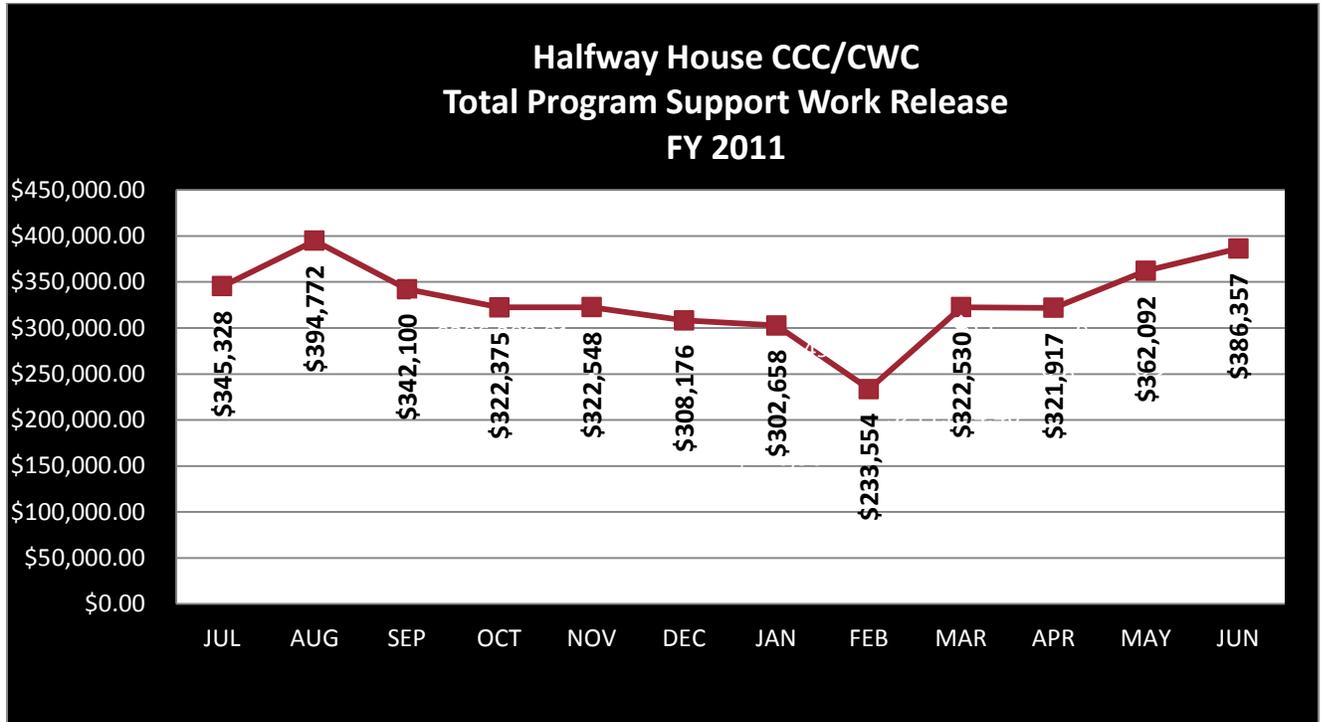

All community facilities have a number of beds dedicated to the work release program. In FY '12, there were approximately 1,145 work release beds. These offenders paid a total of $3,961,906 in program support fees to the agency. Through this employment program, the offender is able to contribute financially to his/her family and a portion of their earnings are placed into a mandatory savings account for the offenders upon discharge.

The Community Corrections Centers/Work Centers has 17% of the total work release bed allocation and collected 30% of the total program support fees. Community contract facilities have 83% of the total work release bed space and collected 70% of total program support fees.

Assignment to a Community Corrections Center or a Community Work Center benefits the offender by providing transitional services to prepare the offender for reentry into the community. The department and the citizens of Oklahoma benefit from the cost savings realized by placement in a community bed compared to the cost of a higher security bed. Other benefits include the payment of program support fees from the offender and the community work completed by offenders assigned to PPWP work crews.

Community Residential Services - Program Support

Programs

A 100-hour transitional program was implemented at the Muskogee, Oklahoma City, and Union City Community Corrections Center. This program is designed to target offenders who are close to discharging their sentence. The program provides offenders with resources to locate housing, employment, health care services, etc., prior to release. Community Corrections offenders participate in a variety of on-site and community-based programs. Programs are provided by contract staff, agency staff or volunteers from the faith community.

Seeking Safety was implemented at Clara Waters Community Corrections Center. Seeking Safety is an evidence based practice designed to assist men to attain safety from trauma and substance abuse. This group intervention is delivered by a master's level mental health clinician and is characterized as offering coping skills for substance abuse, restores individual hope, engages the offender through humanistic language, creative exercises and addresses pro social subjects important in the criminal justice system. In FY' 12 a total of seventy men began the Seeking Safety intervention, forty-one have completed the intervention, giving a completion rate of 59%.

Contract Treatment Programs

The Division has two contracts with Center Point, Inc., one contract provides for residential substance abuse treatment and the other contract provides for follow up services in Osage County. The Substance Abuse program is located in Oklahoma City and provides treatment services for 150 male offenders during a six month residential program. One hundred eighty-three offenders successfully completed the program in the last fiscal year.

Community Contract Facilities

The Division of Community Corrections plays an active role in the reentry process. Studies have indicated that offenders employed at the time of release are less likely to recidivate than those offenders released directly to the streets without employment. Approximately 2,303 offenders transferred to work release programs located at contract facilities.

Escapes

The Division will continue to monitor and track the number of escapes and use the data as a management tool to identify patterns. The Division will also continue to evaluate information to insure best correctional practices are in place to reduce escapes.

Probation and Parole/Community Corrections

Probation and Parole is the unit of the DOC responsible for the supervision of offenders sentenced by the court to suspended and deferred probationary sentences, offenders released from incarceration to parole, offenders released to Global Position Satellite Monitoring and Electronic Monitoring for DUI Offenders, and offenders residing in Oklahoma who were sentenced in other states. The unit is responsible for investigations ordered by the courts, the pardon and parole board or the Department. These investigations include, but are not limited to, pre-sentence, pre-parole, Interstate Compact, and pre-pardon.

The Division of Probation and Parole employs Evidence Based Practices (EBP) in the supervision of offenders. EBP supervision is designed with theory, research, public policy, and practice; all supportive of each other, leading to measurable supervision outcomes. The long term goal of supervision is the reduction of offender risk through enhancing offender's intrinsic motivation for pro-social change. EBP focuses limited resources on those offenders with moderate to high criminogenic risk factors. Criminogenic risk factors are matched with intervention programs to reduce the likelihood of future law violating behavior. EBP emphasizes outcomes over process.

Probation and parole operates sixty-four offices state-wide. At the close of FY'12, there were 18,498 active offenders and 6,319 administratively supervised offenders under the custody and supervision of the Division of Community Corrections.

Specialty Courts

Probation and Parole has been an active partner in specialty courts throughout the state, having been the provider of supervision services to the first drug court in Oklahoma. At year's end, eleven officers were assigned full time to drug court supervision, three officers were assigned to mental health court supervision and one was assigned to DUI court supervision. These specialty courts, with DOC supervision in place, accounted for 1,408 offenders.

Global Position Satellite Monitoring Program Summary

During FY '12, 1,247 non-violent offenders were placed in the community and monitored utilizing Global Positioning Satellite (GPS) technology. These targeted inmates, after serving a period of secure confinement in a DOC facility, were allowed to seek employment opportunities and were referred to community-based treatment programs and services in communities where, eventually, they will return upon release from incarceration.

A total of 744 inmates exited the GPS program. Program violations or ineligibility accounted for 15% of this population, resulting in an 85% successful discharge rate during FY '12.

The passage of House Bill 2131, signed by Governor Fallin, increased the number of offenders eligible for the GPS program. The new eligibility requirements increased the average daily population of the GPS program from 458 to 671. This increase will result in a savings of 244,915 bed days.

The cost of GPS monitoring in FY '12 was $1,208,054.87 for equipment and monitoring expense. With an average daily bed cost of $37.60, the savings realized by the use of the GPS program was $8,540,186.

Electronic Monitoring Program for DUI Offenders

When an offender is incarcerated for Driving Under the Influence, they are provided alcohol and substance abuse services upon availability. The Department of Corrections is statutorily authorized to allow offenders who have completed an approved alcohol treatment program to be placed on electronic monitoring in the community.

Upon release, to enforce accountability and abstinence, DOC requires these offenders to wear a continuous transdermal alcohol monitoring and house arrest unit.

This evidence-based tool, along with officer supervision, provides valuable information that can be used to gauge offender drinking patterns and addiction levels in order to tailor individualized supervision plans and follow-up treatment programs.

The program is supervised by probation and parole officers. During FY '12, fifteen offenders were placed in the program.

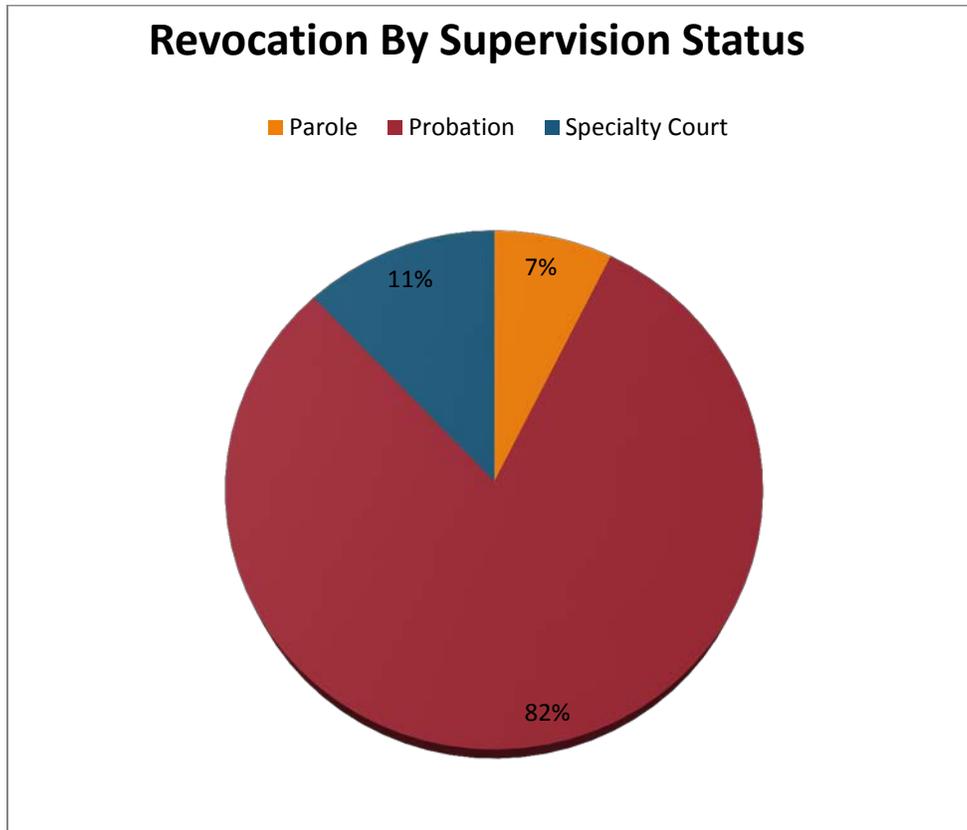

Electronic Monitoring Activity

Monitored days on EM Unit	2,733
Total Number of alcohol tests	143,410
Average number of days on EM unit	182
Most days monitored on EM unit	315
Total confirmed drinking events on EM unit	0

The cost for monitoring services in FY '12 was $14,447.80.

Supervision Outcomes

During FY '12, 1,473 community supervised offenders were returned or revoked to prison. These revocations consisted of 99 (7.0%) parole offenders, 159 (11.0%) specialty court offenders and 1,115 (82.0%) probation offenders.

Employment

Stable and satisfying employment is a primary component of socialization and provides a source of social bonding. Employment stability depends on the pro-social rewards received. Lack of consistent employment indicates a higher risk for criminal behavior. Because of this, the employment module serves as a protective factor for an offender. The employment rate for actively supervised offenders at year end was 82%.

Absconders from Supervision

Each year, many offenders under community supervision experience events that result in their failure to participate in the supervision process. Failure to adhere to the court's orders, lack of adherence to the negotiated transition plan, or economic difficulties may influence this decision. When these offenders abscond supervision, officers work diligently to locate and re-involve them in the supervision process. At the end of the fiscal year, the absconder rate, (percentage of offenders classified as absconders) was 10.9%.

Treatment Services

Treatment Services were again suspended from the budget during FY'12 due to budget constraints. The only treatment services resources were provided through the DMHSAS – SPTU funds statewide and the Weed-N-Seed Grant.

The Department of Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services each year sets up contracts statewide for community offenders who are in need of treatment services.

Central District Community Corrections, in conjunction with the City of Oklahoma City, was offered grant funds to help offenders with gang ties that are living in the Oklahoma City area.

Supervision Module Placement

Supervision activities are based on the offender's identified criminogenic risk factors. These risk factors are identified through the administration of the Level of Service Inventory-Revised. This is an actuarial risk assessment tool that has been validated on Oklahoma's offender population.

Administered by the supervising probation and parole officer, the LSI-R provides recommended supervision modules that are designed to impact the individual criminogenic risk factors of each offender.

Intermediate Sanctions

The Division of Community Corrections utilizes intermediate sanctions in response to technical violations. The use of sanctions by an offender allows for a quick response and lessens the burden of the courts in having to deal with these violations. These sanctions range from a verbal reprimand to jail time. In the FY '12, 4,583 sanctions were imposed; these sanctions also included those imposed by specialty courts.

INTERMEDIATE SANCTIONS IMPOSED

Parole and Interstate Services Unit

The Parole and Interstate Services Unit manages the Interstate Compact for Adult Offender Supervision, parole revocation process, and telecommunications services.

The Interstate Compact Office is responsible for processing and monitoring the transfers of all probationers and parolees who transfer in or out of state.

Parole Revocation

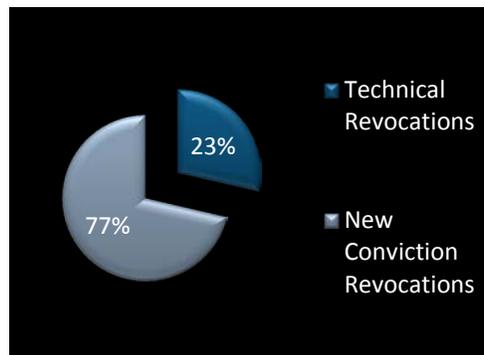

The Parole Revocation Unit is responsible for parole revocations beginning with the issuance of a parole warrant and the hearing process. The executive revocation officer is responsible for reviewing warrant requests to ensure appropriate intermediate sanctions were implemented prior to requesting a warrant.

In FY '12 there were 26 warrants for technical violations issued and 102 warrants for a combination of technical violations and new charges.

Telecommunications

The Telecommunications Office compiles all criminal background checks for the Division of Community Corrections. This includes FBI, OSBI, DPS and out of state criminal records requests. During FY '12 the unit processed 79,377 transactions for the district offices. Based on the number of transactions required for each request, this equates to over 18,534 rap sheets processed for criminal records data.

Diversion Program

Since program inception in May 2007, the Diversion Program focused on prison-bound probation offenders exhibiting chronic, noncompliant behaviors and supervision infractions that typically lead to acceleration or revocation. The primary goal of this program continues to be the diversion of this population from incarceration.

Diversion officers employ the following supervision practices to increase positive offender outcomes through identified risk reduction; risks that, if unresolved; oftentimes lead to problem behavior and criminal activity.

- Collaboration with community based service agencies.
- Provision for more intensive supervision.
- Utilization of incentives, interventions and sanctions to bring offenders into compliance; and
- Involvement of offenders' capable guardian in transition planning and case management.

In essence, the program has provided offenders with access to resources to assist with life changing choices. A specialized team of probation officers work closely with officials from the District Attorney and Public Defender's offices, as well as treatment and service providers.

A containment team, designed to monitor offender progress while under high-risk supervision, is utilized and consists of probation officers, treatment providers, workforce and employment services, mental health professionals, career tech and literacy instructors. Diversion plans are developed in conjunction with established transition plans and programmatic placement. The team conducts monthly staffing to discuss issues relative to offender programmatic progress and determine the best course of action to enable success for the offender.

DIVERSION STATISTICS

CENTRAL DISTRICT COMMUNITY CORRECTIONS DIVERSION PROGRAM

OKLAHOMA COUNTY DIVERSION PROGRAM

Since program inception in May 2007, the Central District Community Corrections Diversion Program for Oklahoma County has focused on prison-bound probation offenders exhibiting chronic, non-compliant behaviors and supervision infractions that typically lead to acceleration or revocation. The primary goal of this program continues to be the diversion of this population from incarceration.

The Central District Diversion Program has not only had a fiscal impact, but has affected the lives of offenders, their families, and our communities in a positive way. In essence, the program has provided offenders with access to resources to assist with life changing choices.

The Diversion Program has had a significant fiscal impact on the state by saving taxpayers the exorbitant costs associated with incarceration. The following supervision practices are utilized and designed to increase positive offender outcomes through identified risk reduction; risks that, if unresolved, could lead to problem behavior and criminal activity. Collaboration with community based service agencies, provision for more intensive supervision, utilization of incentives, interventions and sanctions to bring offenders into compliance; and involvement of offenders' capable guardian in transition planning and case management.

From the very beginning, the Central District Community Corrections Diversion Program has incorporated a team approach to managing this at-risk group of offenders which has continued through FY 2012. Specialized probation officers work closely with officials from the District Attorney and Public Defender's offices, as well as treatment and service providers.

A containment team, designed to monitor offender progress while under high-risk supervision, is utilized and consists of probation officers, treatment providers, workforce and employment services, mental health professionals, and career tech and literacy instructors. Diversion plans are developed in conjunction with established transition plans and programmatic placement. The team conducts monthly staffing to discuss issues relative to offender programmatic progress and determine the best course of action to enable success for the offender.

Implemented during May 2007, Central District's Diversion Program has had an ongoing and significant impact on our continuous goal of diverting technical violating offenders from incarceration. Through FY 2012, 429 offenders have been supervised by the district's Diversion Team, with over 90% (N=387) successfully diverted from a term of incarceration.

DIVERSION PROGRAM

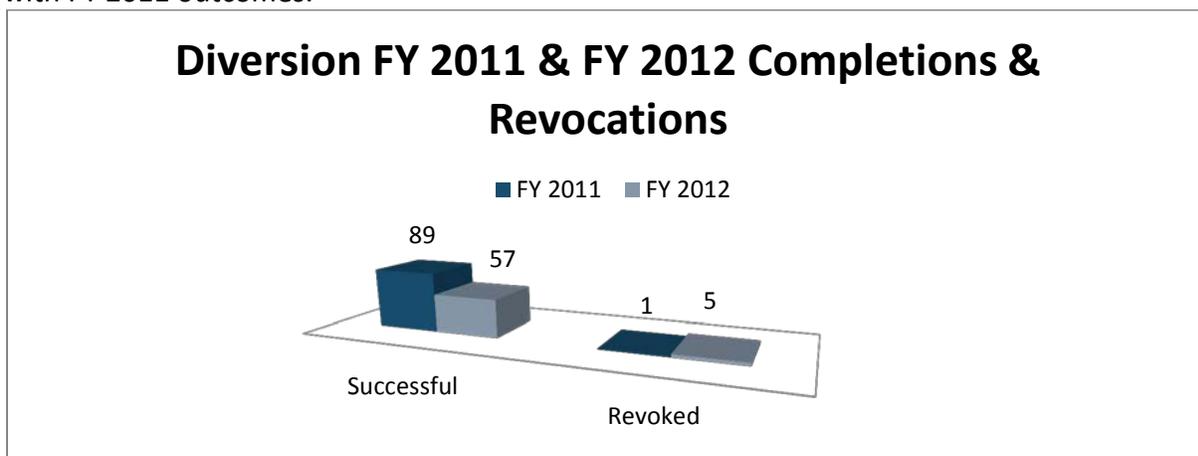

Since inception, only 32 program participants (>10%) have been revoked to a term of incarceration in the Oklahoma Department of Corrections. The program has been and continues to be an overwhelming success, both in terms of fiscal impact and ability to affect pro-social change, thereby diverting a large number of offenders from prison.

The Diversion Program has utilized state funds more efficiently by diverting these 387 clients from revocation. The overall annual savings, comparing probation supervision vs. average cost of incarceration, is $6.4 million. Through fiscal years 2008 and 2012, the average savings is $1.18 million annually and $3,242 per day.

Data collection for the Diversion Program is conducted through collaboration with the following Oklahoma Department of Corrections entities: Evaluation and Analysis Unit, Correctional Offender Management Information Tracking (COMIT) unit, and Central District Diversion officers. This partnership between analyst, technology, and officers enables the Diversion Program to make evidence based decisions to better meet the needs of clients.

The ongoing success of the Central District Diversion Program has strengthened the Oklahoma Department of Corrections' ability to positively enhance public safety while increasing the ability to positively affect the lives of offenders and their families. This program simultaneously results in saving the state of Oklahoma a substantial amount of incarceration costs.

Of the 57 offenders released from the Diversion Program during FY 2012, 52 (91%) were successful, while 5 (9%) were revoked to incarceration in the Oklahoma Department of Corrections. This represents a slight 2% reduction in the district's success rate, when compared with FY 2011 outcomes.

Active Clients Demographics

Fiscal year 2012 ended with 49 active clients; 34 (69%) males and 15 (31%) females. This represents a 13% increase in active female clients, in comparison to FY 2011. Marijuana, methamphetamines, and alcohol remain the predominant substances of choice.

FY 2012 outcomes reflect a slight increase (2%) in the number of African Americans who are being assisted by the program.

Employment

Lack of employment remains a large issue for clients in the Diversion Program, which can be attributed to their education level and substance abuse issues at program entry. Due to the national economic crisis and unemployment rates, client needs for services have increased.

In FY 2012, 43% of offenders who successfully exited the Diversion Program were employed, either full-time or part-time, representing a 7% increase over the previous FY. There was a slight increase (1%) in the number of exiting offenders who were both unemployed and able to work (32%).

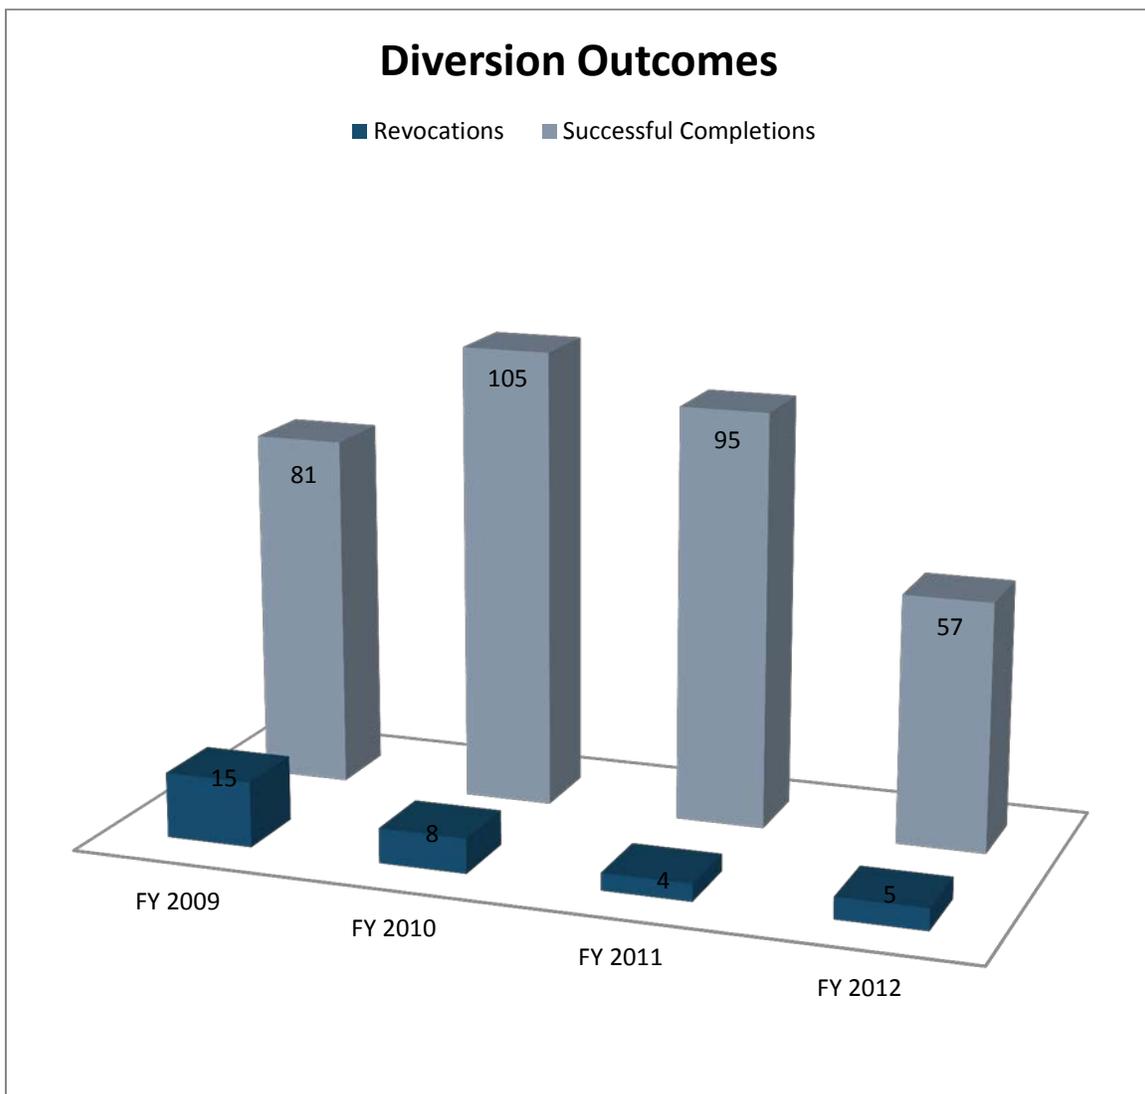

The Oklahoma unemployment rate during FY 2012 reached as high as 6.3%, while the national unemployment rate peaked at 9.1%.

Outcome Measures

The Central District Diversion Program was implemented during May 2007, and since that time has successfully diverted 387 offenders from incarceration, representing a cumulative success rate of over 90%. Only 32 participants have been revoked to a term of incarceration within the Oklahoma Department of Corrections during this time period (May 2007-June 2012).

TULSA DISTRICT COMMUNITY CORRECTIONS DIVERSION PROGRAM

As of June 30, 2012, there were 96 offenders on diversion caseloads in Tulsa County, 5 males and 91 females. The Male Diversion program started in July 2009, and the Female Offender Diversion program started on March 8, 2010. In Tulsa District the criteria for being accepted into each program differs somewhat due to the female program having federal grant money supporting the program. However, the main criteria that is consistent for both programs is the fact that the offenders are considered high-risk for re-offending. The main issues that these offenders have in common are substance abuse, mental health issues and non-complaint behaviors.

The following charts show the total number of clients participating in identified modules out of a total of 96 offenders, in percent form, as of June 30, 2012:

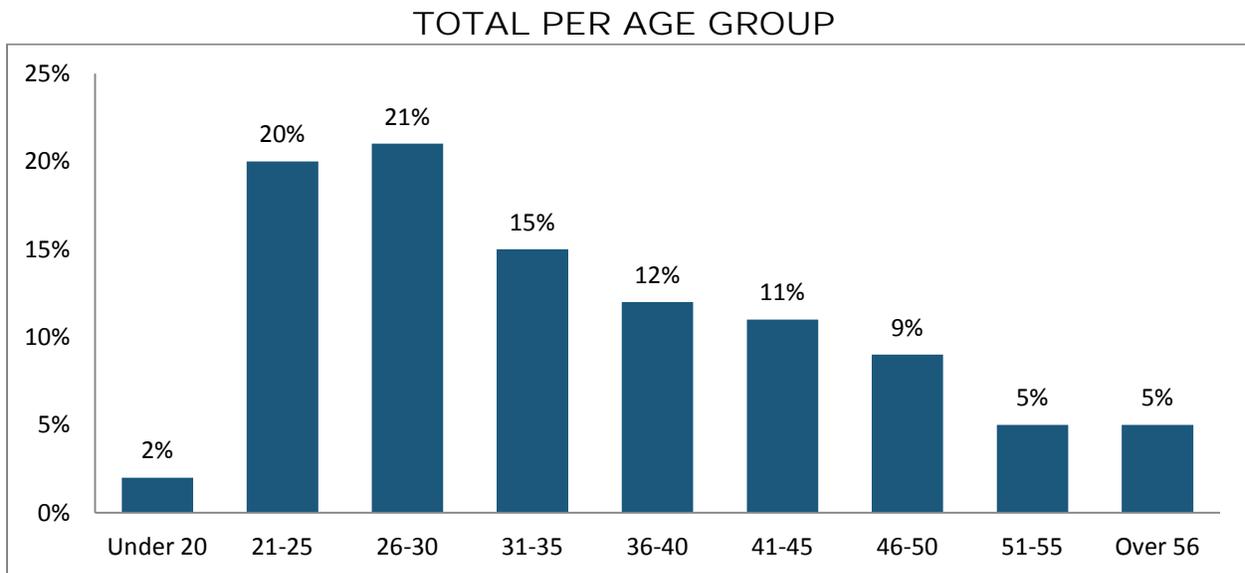

For the Female Offender Diversion Program, all clients obtain their counseling through Family and Children’s Services. However, if there is a need for services that their agency does not provide, they contract that out with another agency. For example, any offender that is in need of domestic violence counseling, they obtain that treatment from Domestic Violence Intervention Services. The offenders in the male diversion program obtain treatment counseling from various treatment providers throughout the greater Tulsa area, depending on their needs.

Referrals for the female diversion program come from other officers who have clients in violation, but that are not severe enough for requesting revocation or those that are sentenced directly into the program by the court. Tulsa District female diversion officers have also completed eight (8) LSI-only reports and four (4) pre-sentence investigations from July 2011 through June 2012, to determine program eligibility.

The only other county that currently has a federally funded female diversion program is Oklahoma County, and although the following chart regarding the ages of the participants is for both counties, it is reflective of the Tulsa County population.

The greater majority of the high-risk females range from age 21 through 35, and the overall unemployment rate for the offenders in the program is 57% statewide and 55% in Tulsa County. These are important statistics for young individuals, especially women, who many times find themselves raising children on their own.

With the male diversion program beginning in July 2009, and the female diversion program beginning in Tulsa District in March 2010, both programs have shown success. This has been accomplished through a balance of sanctions for incurred violations and rewards for accomplishments. The following table shows the amount of sanctions and rewards delivered from July 2011 through June 2012, for both the male and female diversion programs:

	Jul	Aug	Sept	Oct	Nov	Dec	Jan	Feb	Mar	Apr	May	June

Diversion Caseload Southwest District Community Corrections

There have been 36 offenders that participated/completed diversion agreement referrals in Southwest District Community Corrections (SWDCC Lawton), 31 males and 5 females, during this reporting period. In SWDCC there is limited funding for treatment so this presents a problem when referring clients for diversion. Also, the Comanche County District Attorney’s Office is conducting Drug Court and District Attorney Supervision which limits the number of offenders placed into the Diversion Program.

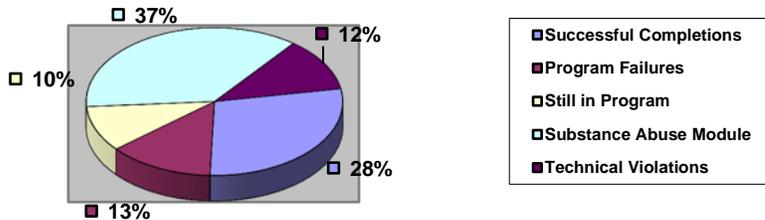

The main issues/criteria that is consistent for referral is that these clients are considered a high-risk for re-offending and have substance abuse issues, mental health issues and/or non-compliant behaviors.

The Diversion program is still being developed and new monies for treatment are forthcoming. Our primary treatment providers will be Jim Taliaferro Mental Health Center for mental health and substance abuse (dual diagnosis), Roadback Inc. and Comanche Nation Recovery Program for substance abuse issues. The opening of the James C. Johnson Sober Living Center for women is still in the works but the opening date has not yet been established. Once open in this area they are willing to provide as much assistance as possible with our female drug offenders.

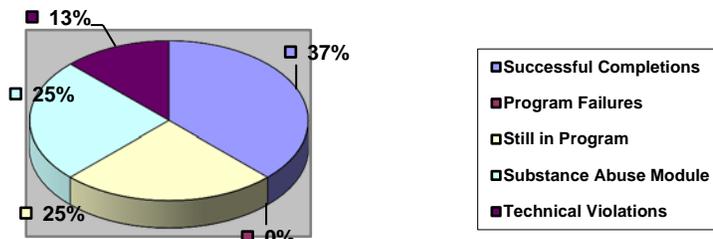

The following shows the total number of clients completing/participating in identified modules out of a total of 36 in the program.

Successful Completions:	Males 17	Females 3
Program Failures:	Males 8	Females 0
Still in the Program:	Males 6	Females 2
Substance Abuse Modules:	Males 22	Females 2
Technical Violations:	Males 7	Females 1
Drugs of Choice:	Cocaine 6 Meth 12 Marijuana 6 Benzo 0 Opiates 1 Alcohol 1 PCP 1

Oklahoma County Jail Program

The Oklahoma County Jail Contract Facility began as a 98-bed medium security housing unit on the 10th floor of the Oklahoma County Detention Center with one case manager to address the case management and programmatic needs of the offenders. On July 1, 2007, additional housing units of 98 medium/minimum security contract beds were added to the contract to establish an Exit Facility for offenders discharging from the Oklahoma Department of Corrections who were unable to transfer to a facility below minimum security level. An additional case manager and an administrator position were added to the personnel to address the needs of the offenders and transition the differences between the county jail and the DOC cultures. The Exit Facility unit was transitioned into a regular medium/minimum security unit in February 2008.

The Oklahoma County Jail Contract Facility houses 298 medium security inmates in three housing units located on the 10th floor of the Oklahoma County Detention Center at 201 N. Shartel, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. The staffing currently includes an Administrator, three Case Managers and a Records Officer. The following programs: ABE, GED, Laubach, Literacy, NA, AA, Thinking for A Change and Victim’s Impact classes are offered to the offenders housed in the contract facility.

During FY 12, two hundred eighty-four (284) new offenders were received at the contract facility. Seventy-five (75) offenders were able to go to court to take care of outstanding, new charges or pending revocations pending against them at the beginning of their sentences instead of at the end of their sentences. Seven (7) additional offenders went to court for judicial reviews and twenty-four (24) offenders discharged from this facility. Seven (7) offenders discharged to ICE, ten (10) to probation and seven (7) went home without any additional supervision. Two Hundred nine (209) offenders transferred to other facilities, sixty-two (62) to medium security facilities and one hundred forty-seven (147) to minimum security facilities.

Filming for the Oklahoma County Detention Center Scared Straight Program, which targets intervention for juveniles arrested in Oklahoma County currently going through the juvenile justice system, was conducted in the 10th floor Baker housing pod. The Scared Straight Program is aired on the A&E Television Station.

The misconduct process continues to be monitored by the ODOC staff and the Private Prison Monitor in an effort to assist the Oklahoma County Detention Center in following through on the completion of the disciplinary process once a misconduct has been written for an offender violation. The process has improved with the training and recertification of the Oklahoma County Detention Center during May 2012.
