Take part in World No Tobacco Day Tuesday

Muskogee Turning Point/Muskogee Against Tobacco (MAT) is inviting the public to be part of World No Tobacco Day on Tuesday. Concerned citizens from Muskogee County are banding together to combat the influence of "Big Tobacco" in Oklahoma communities.

Jane Jones, program coordinator for MAT said that big tobacco companies have entered communities, taking away people's health, money and sometimes their lives. They attract young people to replace customers who have died from smoking-caused illnesses, she said.

What to do:

- Make your home and car smoke free.
- Support tobacco-free schools, churches and parks.
- Support tobacco-free businesses.
- Tell your elected officials how you feel about Big Tobacco's influence in your community.
