Washington County Wellness Initiative Involved in Community

An open house was held at the Anchor House, a combination resource center for homeless families, on Monday. The center consists of Family Promise of Washington County, Casa Hispana and the Washington County Affordable Housing Coalition. All three are work groups of the Washington County Wellness Initiative. The organizations greatest source of funding is from grants. To be eligible for many of them, a community assessment is needed. The more people who participate in the assessment, the better W-C-W-I can set priorities and make plans to improve the overall health of the community.
