- 9:00 – 9:30 General Session: Welcome and Introductions
- 9:30 – 11:00 Environmental Strategies
Environmental prevention is a proven approach for reducing alcohol-related problems and must, therefore, be included in any comprehensive plan to reducing underage drinking. This session will examine environmental prevention’s “big picture” focus and the five main elements of an effective environmental prevention approach: applied data and research, intentional organizing, policies, enforcement, and media advocacy.
- 11:00 –12:00 Alcohol Laws
This session will discuss Oklahoma’s alcoholic beverage laws, especially those intended to reduce underage drinking through limiting youth access to alcohol.
- 12:00 – 1:30 Lunch on your own
- 1:30 – 2:30 Alcohol Laws continued
This session will discuss Oklahoma’s alcoholic beverage laws, especially those intended to reduce underage drinking through limiting youth access to alcohol.
- 2:30 – 4:00 Alcohol Compliance Checks
The session will address the developmental and environmental factors that contribute to drinking patterns within the normative group of adolescents. The trainer will also explain how these factors differ from the developmental and environmental factors to which youth who abuse alcohol or become dependent are exposed. Media events regarding compliance checks will be shown.
- 4:00 – 4:30 Break/Train Youth/Compliance Check Group Set Up
- 4:30 – 8:00 Combined Exercises: Compliance Checks / Environmental Scans
Enforcement of alcoholic beverage laws is an essential part of environmental prevention. In this exercise participants will accompany plainclothes ABLE agents and underage volunteers as they attempt to purchase alcohol from various types of retailers. Participants will also note alcohol-related signage and other environmental factors at the establishments.
- 8:00 Dinner on your own

Day 2

8:30 – 9:00 Registration

9:00 – 9:30 General Session: View CC Media; Team Reports on Combined Exercises

9:30 – 10:15 Media Advocacy

Media advocacy is an essential element of environmental prevention: it can change social norms, magnify public awareness of enforcement efforts, and help mobilize community members to affect change personally or support it politically. This session will provide participants with the skills to interact positively and productively with members of the media. It will also provide instruction in how to design goal-specific, long-term media campaigns. A media spokesperson, if available, will attend this session.

10:15 – 11:45 Fake & Altered

The session will discuss how law enforcement officers or private citizen stakeholders can recognize fake and/or altered IDs. Alcoholic beverage and other criminal codes used to prosecute users of fake or altered IDs will also be discussed.

11:45 – 1:00 Lunch on your own

1:00 – 2:00 Bar Checks and Special Event Techniques

Assessments of on-sale establishments or special events where alcohol is sold provide important feedback to private business owners and event managers. Conducting bar checks and assessments of special events can provide an opportunity for early intervention to prevent underage access and adult over-service to meet state statute requirements.

2:00 – 3:30 Model Policies (ex. Social Host and Outlet Density)

Well-designed, well-followed, and well-enforced policies reduce underage drinking. This session will examine such model policies. The presenter will discuss potential municipal policies as well as the state social host law. Policies in private businesses and other privately-run settings will also be suggested for consideration.

3:30 – 4:15 Controlled Party Dispersal

This session will describe teen parties and explain why they are one of the highest-risk settings for alcohol-related problems among youth.

4:15 – 4:30 Travel to Party Dispersal Location

Information, Place, Time, and Directions will be provided

4:30 – 6:00 Combined Exercises: Controlled Party Dispersals in Rural and Urban Settings

This exercise will give participants the opportunity to assist in a mock party dispersal using tactics learned during the training. Both a rural (outdoor) and urban (indoor) setting will be simulated with weather permitting.

6:00 – 6:30 Party Dispersal Team Review / Closing Remarks / Certificate Distribution
