Oklahoma Access To Recovery

The Access to Recovery (ATR) Program is part of a Presidential initiative to provide client choice among substance abuse clinical treatment and recovery support service providers, expand access to a comprehensive array of clinical treatment and recovery support options (including faith-based programmatic options), and increase substance abuse treatment capacity. Monitoring outcomes, tracking costs, and preventing waste, fraud and abuse to ensure accountability and effectiveness in the use of Federal funds are also important elements of the ATR program. Through the ATR grants, States, Territories, the District of Columbia, Tribes, and Tribal Organizations (hereinafter collectively referred to as "States") will have flexibility in designing and implementing voucher programs, consistent with proven models, to meet the needs of clients in the State. The key to successful implementation of the voucher programs supported by the ATR grants will be the relationship between the States and clients receiving services, to ensure that clients have a genuine, free, and independent choice among eligible providers. States are encouraged to support a mixture of clinical treatment and recovery support services that can be expected to achieve the program's goal of achieving cost-effective, successful outcomes for the largest number of people. Current ATR grantees as well as entities meeting the eligibility criteria that have not received an ATR grant may apply. See Section III-Eligibility Information for additional information about eligibility for the ATR program.

OATR currently serves clients in 12 counties, which include: Lincoln, Logan, McClain, Oklahoma, Pottawatomie, Grady, Creek, Rogers, Tulsa, Wagoner, Comanche and Garfield.

Mission:

We believe every person has value. It is our goal to help them find who they are and become the person they can be. We help them when they can't help themselves. We do not do for them what they can lest they become dependent. Through the struggle, they build strength and character and learn to depend on God. We believe in providing hope. With hope, a person can dream. Add a little belief in one's self and the possibilities are endless. Our goal is to teach people how to fish, so they can eat for a lifetime.
