FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Laid-off Honeywell workers in Tulsa approved for trade benefits

OKLAHOMA CITY, OK (December 5, 2013) – Former workers of Honeywell International, Inc., Aerospace Order Management Division in Tulsa are now eligible for the Trade Readjustment Assistance (TRA) program. TRA provides assistance to those who lose jobs or significant work hours because of increased imports or a shift in production out of the country. TRA-certified workers can access services such as income support, relocation and job search allowances, and health coverage tax credits. Those that need retraining for suitable employment may receive occupational training. The goal is to quickly reconnect laid-off workers with suitable employment.

In a recent ruling, the U.S. Department of Labor (USDOL) found that ex-employees of Honeywell's Aerospace Order Management Division, including on-site leased workers, meet all requirements to receive TRA according to the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273). There are three criteria to qualify for TRA. First, workers must be laid off or threatened with layoff. Next, employer sales or production must decrease. Finally, increased imports of products like or directly competitive with the firm's products must contribute to layoffs or the threat of layoffs. Once certified, TRA recipients must enroll in training, although the state can waive this requirement in certain cases.

The USDOL report concludes "all workers of Honeywell International, Inc., Aerospace Order Management Division, including leased on-site workers from Tapfin-Manpower Group Solutions, in Tulsa, Oklahoma, who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after July 11, 2012, through November 1, 2015, and all workers in the group threatened with total or partial separation from employment on November 1, 2013, through November 1, 2015, are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Chapter 2 of Title II of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended." Separated employees who want to apply for TRA should contact their nearest Workforce Oklahoma Center at 1-888-980-WORK (9675).
