

Transcript for Monday at 11:01 AM Trailer

♪ ♪ ♪ ♪

“Wow! What a gorgeous town! Can we stop and have a look around?”

“Sure.”

“Welcome to The Grand, sir. Can I help you with your luggage?”

“Thank you. This place is incredible. So beautiful.”

“Oh, thank you. Some people don’t think this place exists.”

“What do you mean?”

“People come here to disappear. Isolated from the living, separated from the rest of the world.”

♪ ♪ ♪ ♪

“Thank you for dinner, handsome.”

“Have we been here before?”

“Sweetheart, are you ok?”

“It’s strange. I’m experiencing déjà vu.”

♪ ♪ ♪ ♪

“We are checking out.”

“I’m so very sorry sir. There is no way out.”

“I think something’s wrong with me.”

“Have a seat, son. All the people here that you’ve dealt with, they’re moving souls along. And your mind can’t make any sense of it anymore. It’s all becoming a blur. And all you feel is longing.”

“I need to get a grip.”

“Baby, you’re starting to scare me.”

“Where am I?”

“I think you’re losing it.”

“Try to remember, you won’t have that ability soon. Death is an evil thing. It gives you one last moment of clarity, before it takes you.”

“Come on! What is this?! Please please, let me out of here! Help! Help! Let me out of here! Please!”