

OSBI Taps into Young Minds at Area Libraries

The OSBI designed and assembled a “traveling display” that has been housed at several libraries throughout the metro area and is now in the northeast area of the state. The display provides details about the history and mission of the OSBI along with information about the different divisions within the Bureau. Items in the display represent the different disciplines found throughout the OSBI, including chemistry, fingerprints, crime scene investigations, and the Internet Crimes against Children Unit.

Christa Rhodes can be contacted at (918) 456-0653 to make arrangements to have the OSBI display in your city library.
