Five years after Great Recession, Oklahoma continues steady economic expansion

OKLAHOMA CITY – Five years after the close of the Great Recession, gross receipts to the treasury point to continued expansion of the Oklahoma economy, State Treasurer Ken Miller announced at a State Capitol news conference on Wednesday.

Gross receipts for Fiscal Year 2014 total $11.7 billion, reflecting growth of $469 million, or more than four percent compared to FY-13. June receipts topped $1 billion, up by more than $64 million or 6.6 percent from June 2013, Miller said.

The National Bureau of Economic Research declared an official end to the 18-month Great Recession in June 2009. Miller said the state’s economy has recovered quite well since then.

“Gross receipts to the treasury, a good snapshot of our state’s productivity, incomes and consumption, are higher than ever before,” Miller said. “In fact, collections have been higher than the same month of the prior year in 45 of the past 51 months, which indicates a steady economic expansion.”

All major tax categories – total income tax, sales tax, motor vehicle tax, and gross production tax – are in positive territory for both the month and the year.

Sales tax collections, generally viewed as an indicator of consumer confidence, are up by 3.4 percent for the past 12 months, and by 4.8 percent in June.

Total income tax collections, a combination of personal and corporate income tax receipts, grew by more than six percent in June, but by only a fraction of a percentage point for the past 12 months. A general reduction in corporate income tax payments moderated a stronger showing in personal income tax collections.

The gross production tax on oil and natural gas surged by more than 20 percent during the year, and is up by more than 15 percent in June.

Motor vehicle collections also show strength with increases of more than 16 percent for the year and almost 18 percent for the month of June.
