Twelve-Month Receipts Top $10 Billion

OKLAHOMA CITY – The State Treasurer’s May revenue report shows Oklahoma’s economy has made up more than one-third of the dollars lost during the Great Recession, State Treasurer Ken Miller said today.

Milestone Reached

Twelve-month receipts ending in May are $10.071 billion, marking the first time since August 2009 that the 12-month total has topped $10 billion.

“Oklahoma’s economy has made great strides in the past year,” Miller said. “We see improving health in virtually every economic sector measured by revenue collections. The latest report on unemployment also brings good news. With April’s preliminary rate set at 5.6 percent, the report shows that our private sector continues to add much needed jobs as we try to get back to full employment.”

The last time Oklahoma’s unemployment rate was lower was in February 2009, when it was 5.5 percent. The lowest unemployment rate for Oklahoma in the past 35 years is 2.8 percent recorded in December 2000.

Revenue collections peaked in December 2008 with a 12-month total of $11.283 billion. Totals dropped steeply during the next 13 months, bottoming out in February 2010 at $9.364 billion. Each month since then, receipts have increased at a slightly accelerating pace.

From the trough in February of last year, 12-month gross receipts have recovered 37 percent of the revenue that was lost during the more than one-year plunge in collections.

“Our revenues fell sharply once the Great Recession took hold,” Miller said. “Now 15 months into the expansion phase of the business cycle, we are seeing continued signs of steady recovery.”

Economists were divided on the shape of the eventual recovery. Some predicted an L-shaped business cycle, where economic growth would be flat for an extended period. Others predicted the typical V-shaped recovery, indicating a steep decline in the economy followed by a steep increase. Oklahoma numbers indicate a hybrid of the two with a steep decline and slow incline.

“Absent a significant external event, there is no indication the Oklahoma economy will experience a “double-dip” or W-shaped recovery but will continue on its current expansionary path,” Miller said.
